WRITER

The AI writing assistant for teams

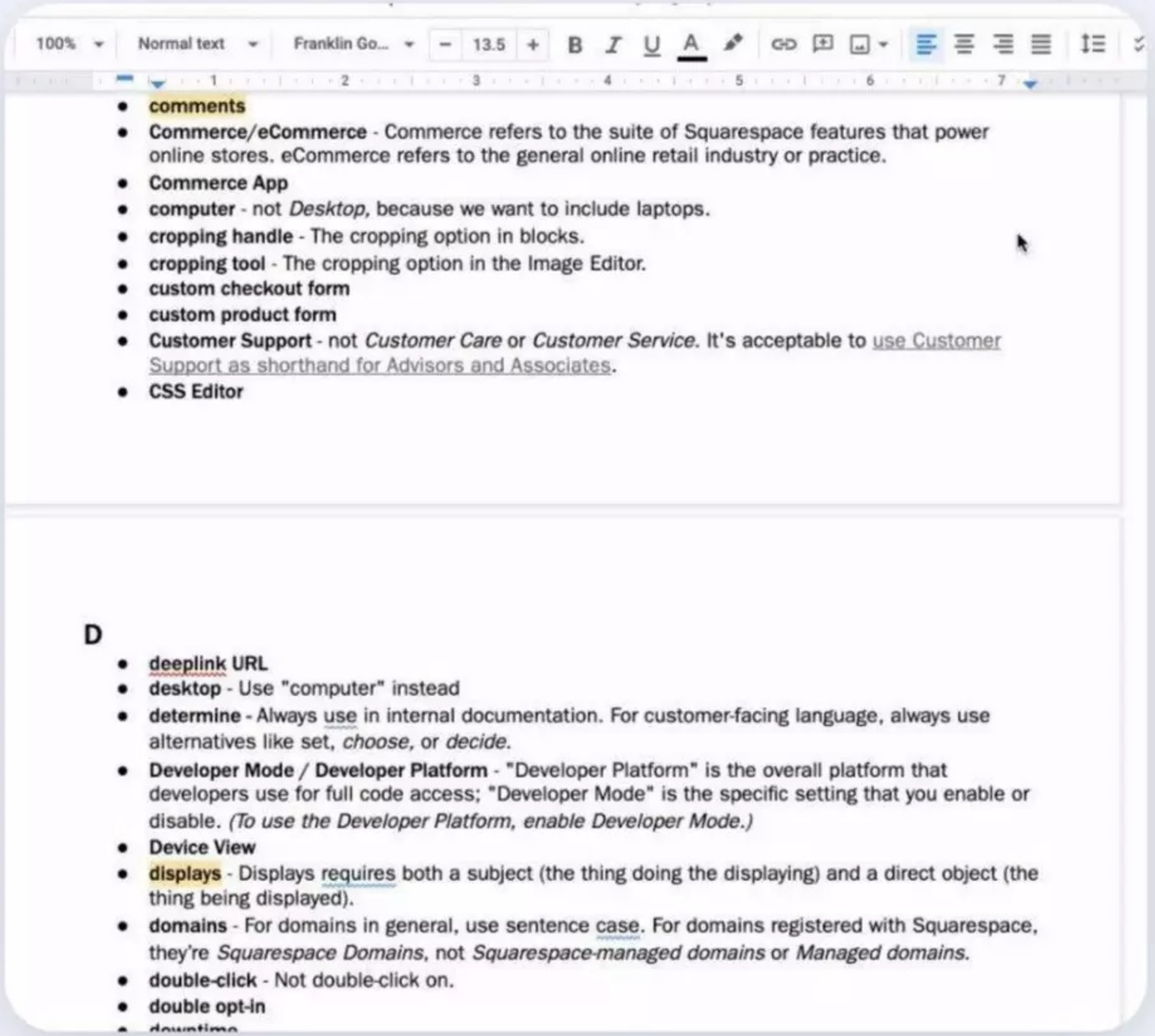

00:04 00:23

Writing is the last unstructured major business process

Companies try to systemize writing with content styleguides

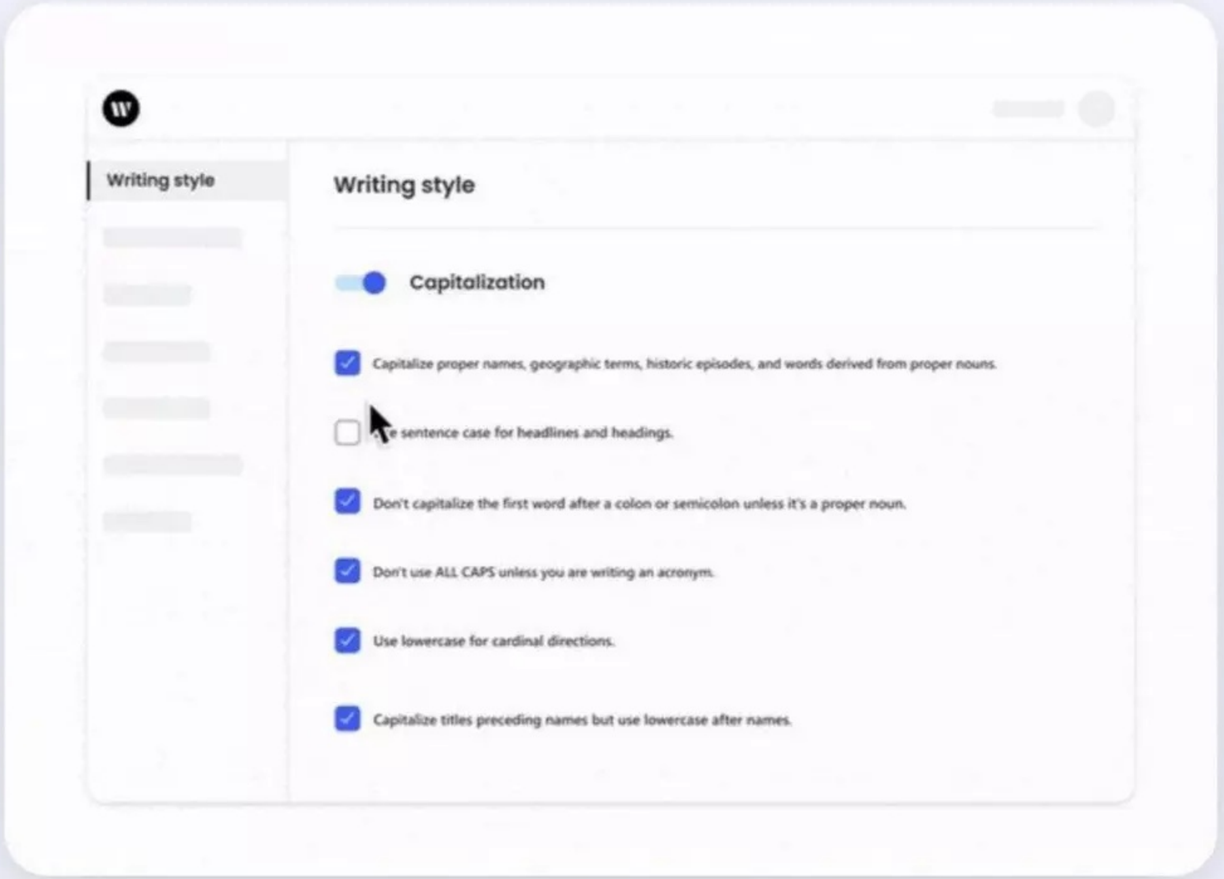

But they're static documents that are hard to follow, update, and enforce

...and they're not specific enough

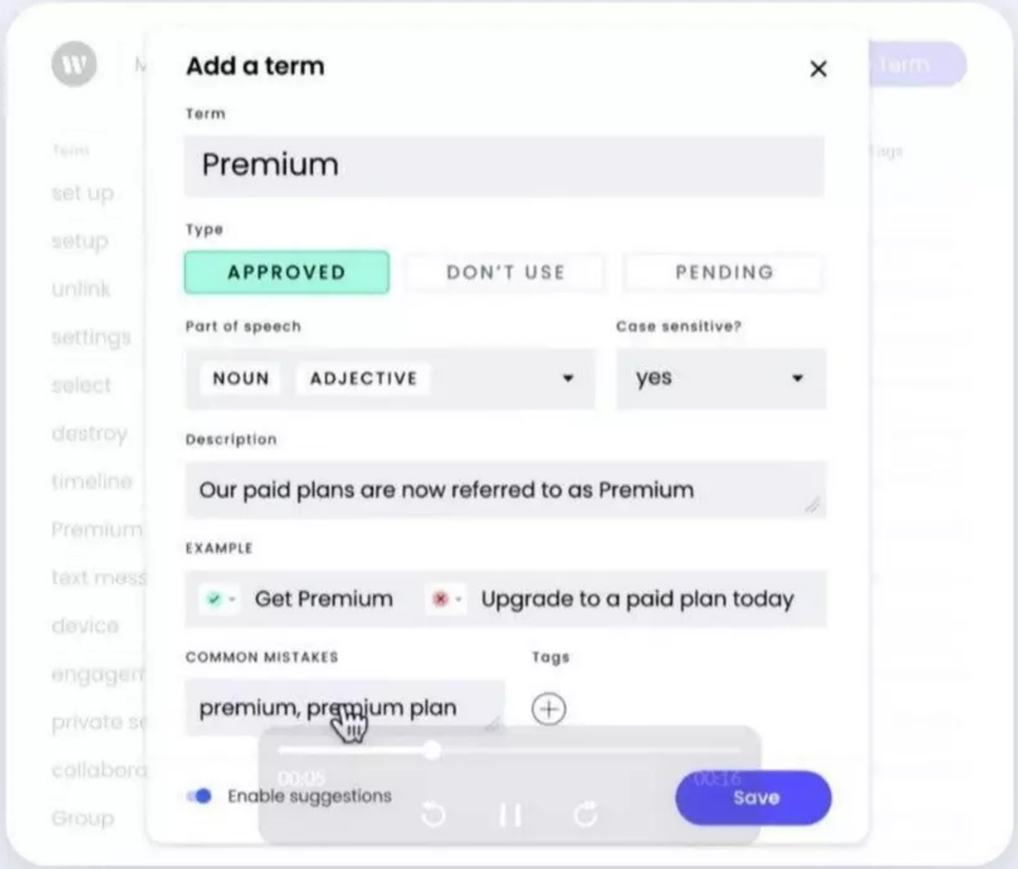

Writer gives teams a way to systemize everything people write

1. We are the source of truth for all content guidelines...

Your data isn't the product

We want you to read our terms of service. What you write will never make it into our machine learning models. Your data is analyzed transiently, so what you write in your online tools stays there.
