Contractbook

A smarter way to work with contracts

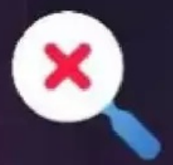

December 2020

The problem: deep rooted pain in contract management

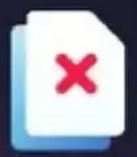

Sales and legal professionals do not have a client-centric tool to manage contracts in a cost efficient way

That creates deep issues

Client Centricity

Lack of insight + Contractual Risk

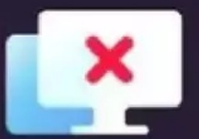

Slow

Obscure Management of Contracts

Expensive

High Allocation of Internal Resources

Inefficient

Hard to Enforce Internal Control

The Legal Automation Platform for the remote generation

Why us?

Like Salesforce is for sales reps and Xero is for accountants, we're award-winning software, disrupting a massive market opportunity and demonstrating significant early traction.

The PDF is dead, contracts should be stored as metadata

Digital Contracts Today

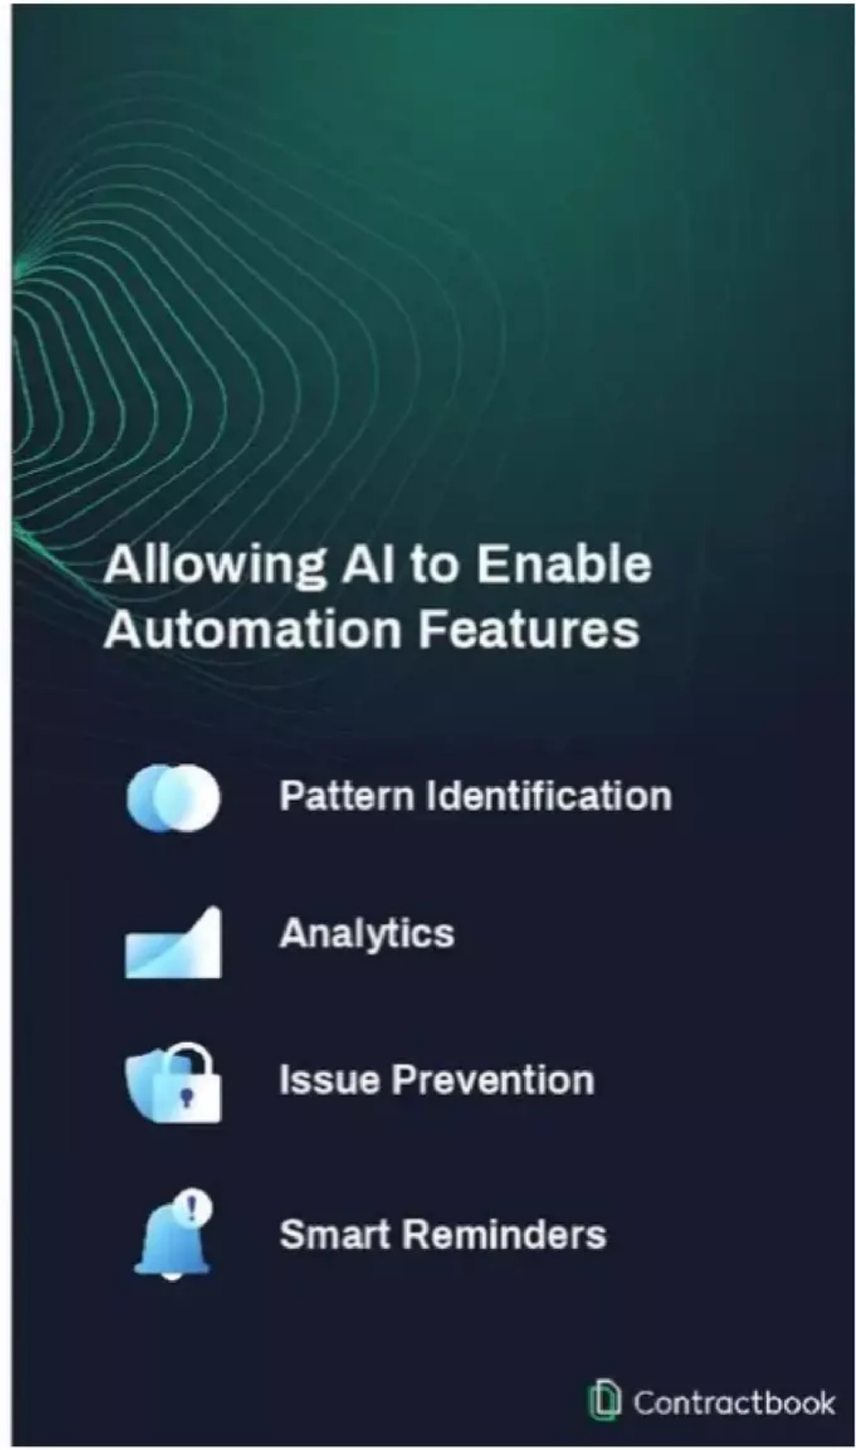

Current digital contracting solutions convert contracts into PDFs, where details, audits, and metadata is completely lost

PDFs are almost as useless as paper contracts with no ability to analyze or backwards compatibility -- PDF is a dying format

Digital Contracts of Tomorrow

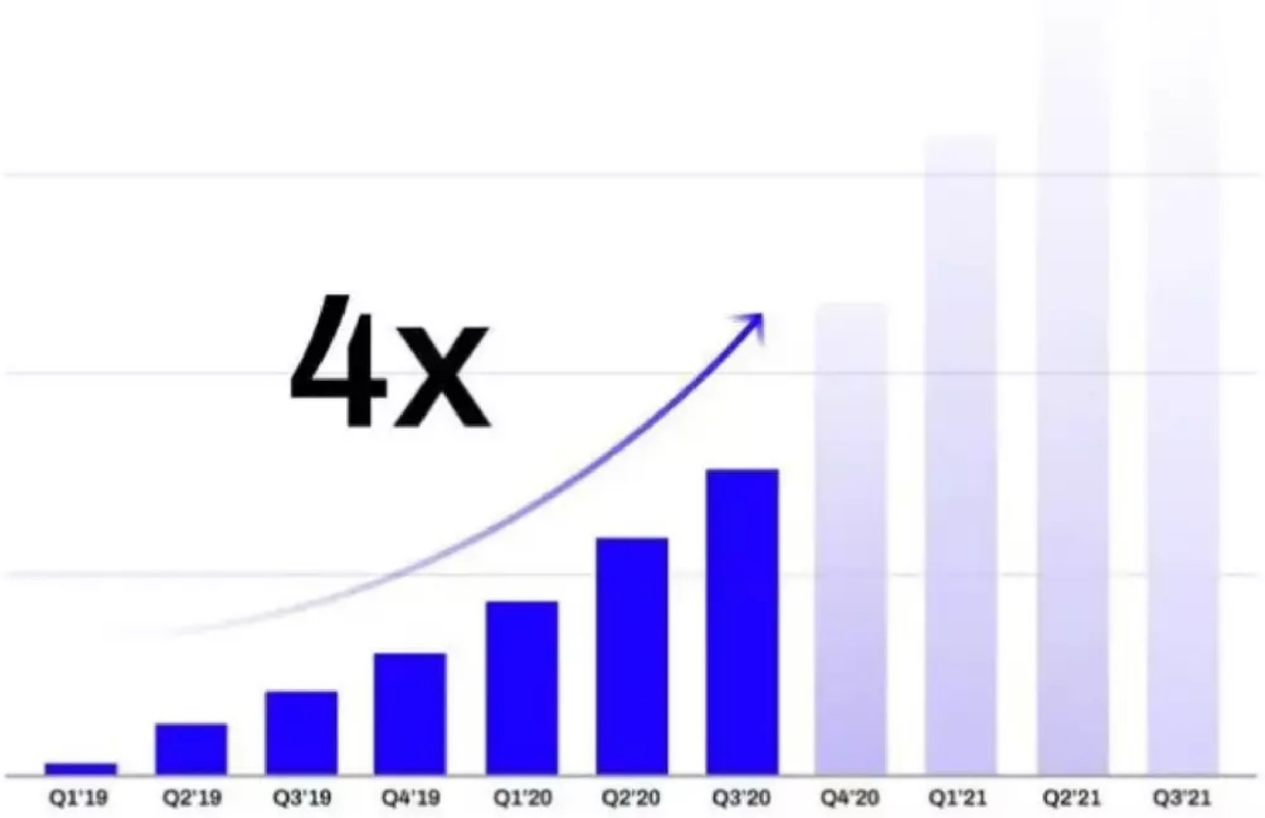

Contractbook stores contracts as raw JSON with historical metadata, just like any other form of data in today's cloud solutions

This serialized data allows the introduction of AI and comprehensive analysis for organizations with large volumes of contracts
