Stanford just promised to never call their alumni again

For many

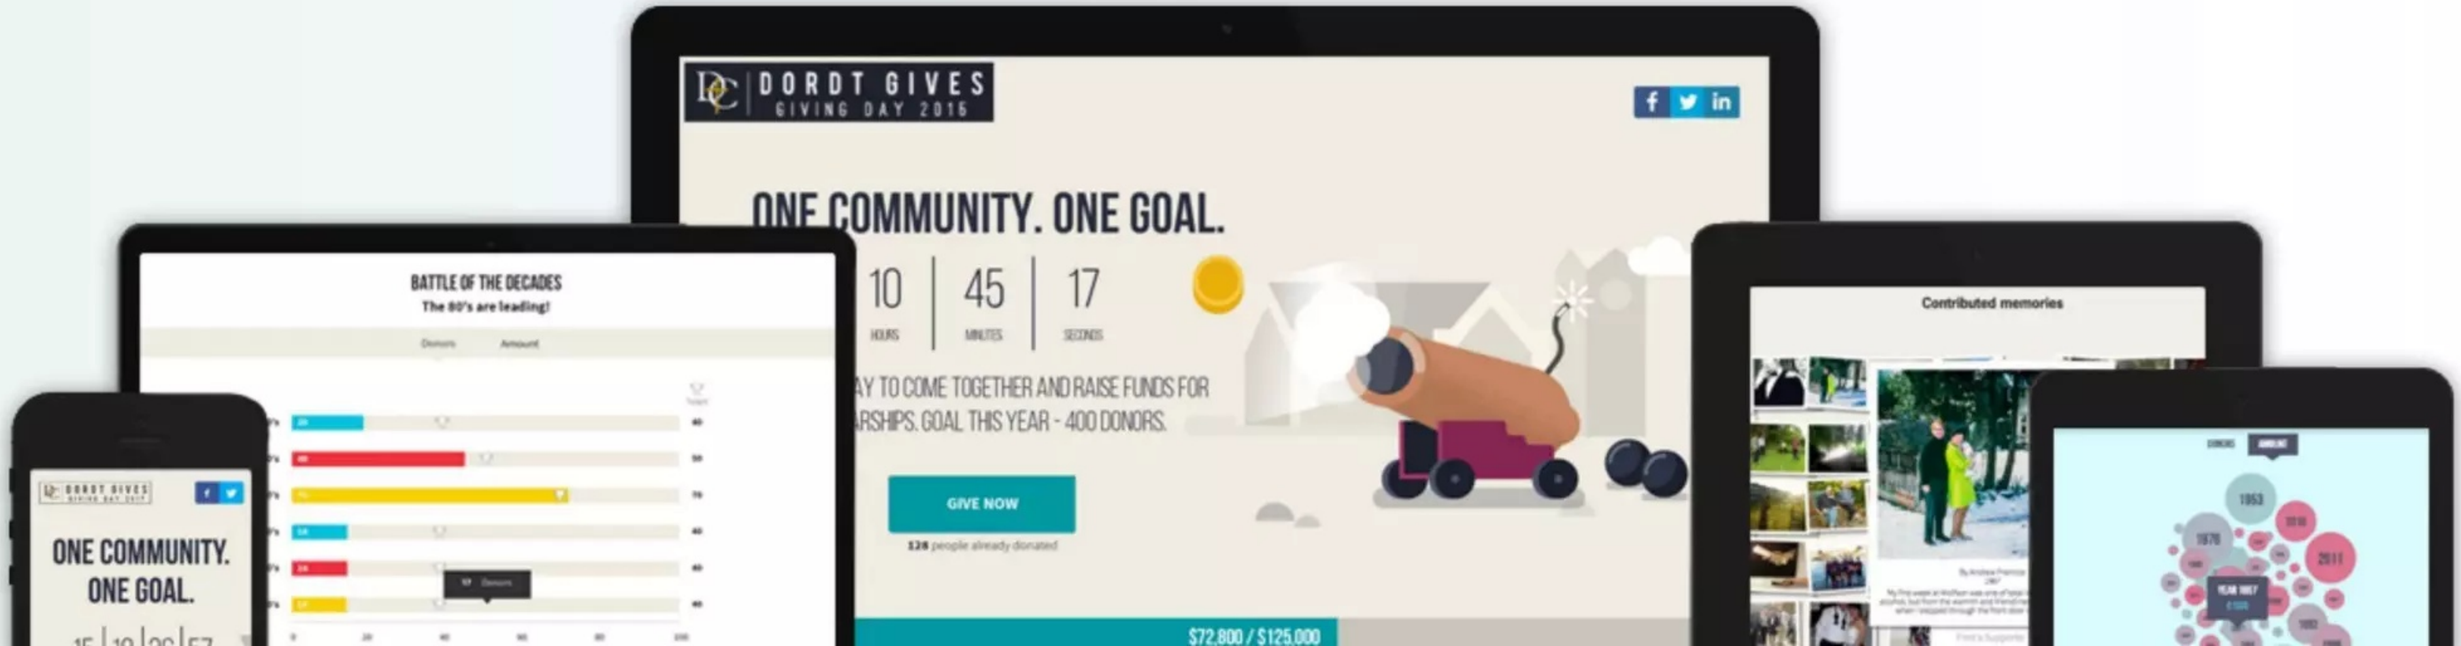

What's changing?
Starting September 1, 2016, Stanford will no longer call alumni, parents, and friends to ask for gifts to the university's annual funds.

But I liked talking with student callers!
Students enjoyed chatting with you, too. And we are grateful for the gifts you made while talking with them. We still need you, and we promise to continue sending you stories of students and faculty and the incredible work they're doing with your support.
