Why companies should equip their employees at home.

Employee Health

Musculoskeletal disorders are the main cause of sick leaves. An ergonomically equipped workstation can help because it allows needed movements. The most important elements are an ergonomic office chair and desk. Both ensure a comfortable position for the upper body and head and therefore prevent bad posture that can cause illness.

Motivation & Benefits

On average, an ergonomically equipped workplace resulted in a productivity increase of 20-30%. If workplaces are not ergonomically designed, this can also be a decisive factor for high employee fluctuation.

New Work

Result-oriented work after Covid will be less about "where" and more about "why". The individual will benefit from more flexibility, the companies from greater personal responsibility of their employees. Such a »New Normal« increases the productivity, satisfaction and motivation of employees.
