Remote work is here to stay

We're currently experiencing 5 years of behaviour change in 5 weeks with many business working remotely for the first time.

Remote work allows companies to open up a global talent pool.

Employing people internationally is expensive and complex

In order to employ somebody overseas, you need to:

- Set up a local subsidiary or branch
- Find a local employment lawyer
- A local accountant
- A local payroll provider
- Local benefits providers

> It costs tens of thousands of pounds and takes months of bureaucratic pain to employ in a new country.

> As a fast growing remote company the regulations, tax laws and myriad of changing 'unknown unknowns' were overwhelming.

Employ anywhere in the world with a few mouse clicks

Our tech platform sits between employers, employees and local payroll providers and:

- Automates local payroll services
- Is available 24/7
- Allows instant onboarding
- Does not require human interaction

A fantastic and compliant employee experience as a service

Employ

We remove the need for our customers to set up local entities and navigate local regulatory requirements.

Our global network of legal entities employ our customers' team members locally.

Pay

Our customers simply pay one invoice per month for their entire global team.

We handle payroll, local taxes and cross border payments and remittances.

Benefits

Our customers can treat all of their employees on an equal footing, no matter where they're based.

We manage a network of pension and benefits providers across the globe and get volume discounts due to our scale.

A £7B market today will grow enormously over the next 5 years

Due to explode over next 3-5 years as remote becomes the norm.

73%

By 2028, 73% of all teams will have remote workers.
